 - ◇ Title II Mandate
 - ◇ Implications of Olmstead
- ◆ Ways to locate & assist individuals in assessing their needs & preferences for community-based living
 - ◇ Developing relationships with residents, their families and others
 - ◇ Confidentiality, consent, and medical records
 - ◇ Guardianship issues
- ◆ Approaches to assist individuals in developing and implementing a transition plan
 - ◇ Plan components
 - ◇ Barriers & resources to address them
 - ◇ Safety and risk
- ◆ Strategies for effective post-transition activities for supporting community-based living
 - ◇ Common issues
 - ◇ Potential advocacy situations
 - ◇ Documenting success

Who should attend?

- ◆ Managers and front line workers new to transition.
- ◆ More experienced staff who would benefit from interactive problem solving sessions.
- ◆ Participants in the ABCs of Nursing Home Transition webinars who want a more comprehensive and interactive experience.

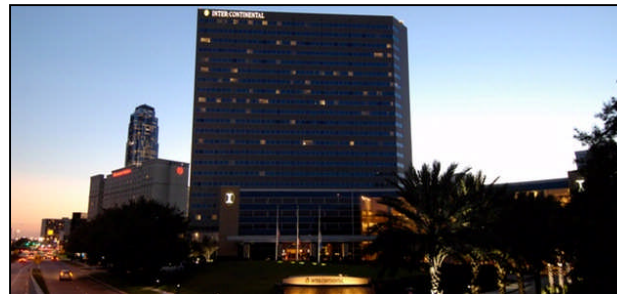

ARE YOU INTERESTED IN...

- ◆ Developing productive relationships with nursing facilities?
- ◆ Assisting individuals to identify and assess their needs and preferences?
- ◆ Maintaining a consumer-directed approach in transition services?
- ◆ Using checklists and tools for planning?
- ◆ Maximizing the success of moving day?
- ◆ Supporting relocated individuals after the move?

If your answer is YES, you should attend this training!

Your Presenters

Bruce Darling, Executive Director, Rochester Center for Disability Rights

is co-founder and Executive Director of the Center for Disability Rights (CDR), a disability rights organization and Independent Living Center. During the summer of 2000, without any new funding but with a great deal of conviction, CDR began a project to transition people out of nursing homes and back into the community. The project has helped hundreds of people return to community living.

Jane Schiele, Director, Satellite Offices, Disability Center for Independent Living has worked at Independent Living Centers since 2000. She was the Statewide Coordinator for the grant-funded Nursing Facilities Transition Project in Colorado from 2002 - 2004. The project was so successful that it is now permanently in Colorado's legislation and is named the Community Transition Services.

The New Community Opportunities Center at ILRU is a national training and technical assistance project for centers for independent living and statewide independent living councils. The Center is operated by Independent Living Research Utilization (ILRU), a program of TIRR Memorial Hermann, a nationally recognized rehabilitation center for persons with disabilities, and funded by RSA under grant # H400B10003.
